BOARD OF HEALTH REPORT

The general condition for the year 1930 was above the average, no serious contagious or infectious diseases were reported during the year, although Whooping Cough, Mumps and Measles were very prevalent causing much disturbance in the schools.

The analyses of the water and milk supply by the State Board of Health were in all cases satisfactory to that department.

Through the cooperation of the School Officials and School Nurse with the health department a much higher physical standard has been maintained among the students that heretofore.
